“ So sad that my family could not even acknowledge me, my father's only daughter and grandson, at the time of his death. How horrible not to tell a daughter her father had died. God would have wanted us at the funeral and I believe my father would have wanted that too. I was the one he abandoned because he didn't want a child. I do not deserve to be treated as if by being born I did something wrong and should be ignored as a family member
