Closing Scripture

"The Lord is my shepherd; I lack nothing.
He makes me lie down in green pastures,
he leads me beside quiet waters,
he refreshes my soul.
He guides me along the right paths
for his name's sake.
Even though I walk through the darkest valley,
I will fear no evil,
for you are with me;
your rod and your staff,
they comfort me."
— Psalm 23:1-4

“ As I sit with my mom, Joan (Jane's twin), she reminisces about their childhood. She talks about their family home in NYC where they built memories of school age fun, helping each other with homework and hairstyles (and maybe playing a few twin switching tricks on others..). Mom smiles while recalling the church events that they often attended with the fondest being the many dances. Then the move to NJ, as they built identical houses across the street from one another to enjoy the first years of their children growing up. This included splashing in the pool and taking the eldest (Eric and Scott) to and from elementary school (even through the snow with the youngest sibs tagging along). When Jane moved to Texas, this did not stop the close relationship, as the sisters continued to travel a couple times a year to visit each other across the states. Of course, talking on the phone daily! The visits only lessened as travel became more difficult for them, but the calls did not. The bond that my mom talks about is truly a twin connection, filled with love and respect. I am grateful that I have been witness to this my 60 years, and I know that mom and Aunt Jane will meet again. Until then, mom will continue to reminisce and I will bathe in the beautiful memories she shares. 'til we meet again. - love you, Aunt Jane. xoxo. -Lisa
